Presentation

The COVID-19 pandemic is posing a challenge for educators worldwide. It is becoming harder to travel and opportunities to attend training courses are scarce. The Centre for Applied Linguistics is adapting to these new constraints and offers you a chance to participate in a distance training course (our on-site courses will take place if authorised by the French health and administrative authorities).

Content

You will be able to choose one or several modules from a wide selection:

<https://cla.univ-fcomte.fr/formule/distance-teacher-training-program>

Here are some of the modules available:

- Differentiation in the FLE classroom
- How to teach speaking skills
- Innovative ways of teaching grammar
- Incorporating cross-cultural content in the FLE classroom
- Teaching literature in the FLE classroom
- Teaching a non-linguistic subject (DNL) in French
- FOS (French for Specific Purposes) methodology
- Designing and teaching an online course
- Teaching FLE to children
- Motivating teenagers through active teaching

How are our courses organized?

Each module will allow you to attend five 1.5-hour sessions online. You will be part of a group of a dozen teachers working together in a virtual classroom. A certificate of attendance will be sent to you at the end of each module. You can sign up for several modules and make progress at your own pace thanks to our courses which run over a three-month period.

Going further

If you work for an organization which wishes to train several people, we can put together specific courses for groups of 10 or more teachers: 3 modules / 22.5 hours of training / 10 participants
